

Our mission:
To provide exceptional solutions that create vital connections for total customer satisfaction.

2387 Clements Ferry Road
Charleston, South Carolina 29492
800.756.4402
843.881.4893 fax
www.cambarsoftware.com

CSI
CAMBAR SOFTWARE INC.
Mission-Critical
Supply Chain Support

Let the Experts Take the Helm

The key to any mission is having the right crew on board. In addition to providing the technology you need to power your supply chain, CSI's top-notch team of consultants plays a mission-critical role in increasing your end-to-end supply chain efficiency. CSI houses only the most experienced business and technical specialists, who provide 24 X 7 support during the implementation of our Axis software and beyond. Extensive consulting service offerings provide industry experts who recommend real solutions for optimizing your overall supply chain model. Our services professionals are here to ensure your newly streamlined supply chain takes off with meteoric speed.

Representative CSI clients

- Owens & Minor
- Ingram Micro
- Ralston Purina
- General Nutrition Center
- Epson America
- UPS Logistics
- Simon & Schuster Publishing
- Universal Studios
- Canon
- Ross Products

Conbraco

“We have partnered with CSI's Supply Chain Consulting division to pursue a lean manufacturing initiative that has minimized inventory throughout our supply chain and maximized customer service deliveries. The results have been lower total acquisition costs and reduced lead times associated with order fulfillment. Our supply chain improvements have proven to be the most significant overall change in our company's history.”

— Glen Mosack, President & CEO

System Integration Services

CSI's System Integration Services propel your business into the stratosphere by employing new technologies to keep ahead of trends—without breaking your continuity. From application maintenance, enhancement, and integration to customization and deployment, our System Integration Services provide:

- Project management
- Application development
- Post-implementation support

Integrated Technical Services

The foundation of excellent supply chain management is connectivity with a comprehensive infrastructure that not only reaches into all corners of your organization, but also links you to external suppliers, distributors, and retailers, and of course—your customers. That's how CSI's Integrated Technical Services team manages the nerve center of your business. Our Integrated Technical Services provide you with world-class:

- Hosting solutions
- Network design & management
- Database administration
- Performance tuning & consultation
- IT consulting

Supply Chain Consulting

CSI's team of Supply Chain specialists guides your organization through the transition from old, cumbersome supply chain models to streamlined, lean supply chain machines. Working together, our consultants and their clients analyze current conditions and establish a plan for the future state, balancing yesterday with today and tomorrow. Our Supply Chain Consulting provides you with a strong foundation to for improvements in your supply chain with:

- Straight-line solution workshop
- Strategy & continuous improvement

eSolution Services

An eSolution means more than a Web presence. It expands the vision to leverage eCommerce, compress supply chains, expand customer reach, and slash cycle times. eBusiness is fundamentally altering the competitive landscape and changing the way value is delivered to customers. Real eBusiness, the kind powered by the CSI eSolutions team, adds value because it elevates your customer satisfaction levels and revolutionizes the way your company conducts business. Our eSolution Services provide intensive, A-Z Web strategy through:

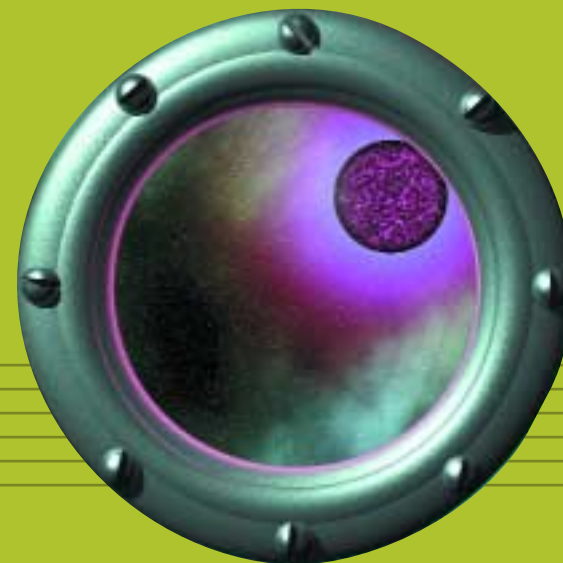

- Strategic planning
- Architecture planning & design
- eCommerce development
- eBusiness integration

Education Services CSI University

Nothing can be more intimidating or cause more unproductive downtime than bringing your employees up to speed on a new technology. Our product-specific courses are designed to help end users maximize the utility of our Axis products by arming them with short-cuts and time saving tips that streamline daily processes. Our beginner and advanced classes can be customized to meet your organization's unique learning needs, and can be administered on your premises or at our cutting-edge Corporate Headquarters. Our list of courses includes:

- Instructor training
- Train-the-trainer
- Introductory & advanced user training
- Introductory & advanced technical training

Our vision:
Transforming
the way
customers
serve
customers.

Send Your Business Soaring

Because your customers are the center of your universe—and ours, CSI's integrated Axis products and services help you launch a streamlined supply chain to propel your business into the 21st century! To learn more about our innovative solutions, please visit us on the Web at www.cambarsoftware.com.

About CSI

Our clients capitalize on our 20+ years of success providing exceptional software solutions that streamline supply chain execution. Nestled in the hub of the fourth busiest international port in the United States—Charleston, SC, our strategic location makes distribution and supply chain execution our lifeblood, and connects us with the industries we serve. Founded in 1981, CSI has spent over 20 years driving solutions—from supply chain consulting and systems integration, to eCommerce development and application hosting—that overcome challenges within the supply chain. CSI provides robust, integrated Web commerce, order management, warehouse management, and financial management solutions that power and optimize supply chain execution across the enterprise.

Emergency Relief Services Division, IAP

“CSI's consultants understood our business requirements and transformed them into a global disaster relief tracking system. The CSI solution tracks order entry and procurement through shipping and receiving, making it possible for our customers to help those in need. The resulting solution enables us to respond quickly and efficiently.”

— L.D. Hutto,
Vice President

Owens & Minor

“Still stinging from a previous expensive and unsuccessful software purchase, Owens & Minor began the daunting task of searching for a stable, experienced, and innovative company to help us start over. CSI gave us that comfort feel, and lived up to their word by delivering exceptional customer service and a quality product. As a result, we realized a 6% increase in inventory accuracy, an improvement in our productivity, and a reduction in application maintenance cost.”

— Pat Caine, Director of Core Applications

